This Book is brought to you for free and open access by the Alumni Publications at Osgoode Digital Commons. It has been accepted for inclusion in Report on Giving by an authorized administrator of Osgoode Digital Commons.
How do you measure success? In fundraising it is quite simple: it is total dollars raised. According to that method we have been extremely successful, as the chart on the next page illustrates. In terms of dollars and cents, this is the most money Osgoode has raised since we began publishing this report six years ago.

But at Osgoode there is a truer measure of success – and that’s being spoofed in Mock Trail. In last February’s show a very talented group of students put together an outstanding production. There was singing, dancing and much laughter. For Osgoode’s Advancement Office, the highlight of the show was a song entitled When you’re Good to Patty, sung to the tune of When you’re Good to Mama, from the musical Chicago. It included the lines, “If you want recognition and an award named after you, just cut us a donation and we’ll give you your due.” and “The firms atop the ladder with lots of cash to spare, helped their alma mater give us a business chair”.

When our students start singing songs about fundraising, it is proof that our donors are impacting their lives. We have more student financial aid, more technologically advanced renovated classrooms and more new faculty because of the generosity of the alumni and friends listed in this report.

On behalf of Osgoode Hall Law School, I thank you for your support.

The Osgoode Hall Law School Fund

Chair’s Message
It has been a privilege to serve as Chair of the Osgoode Hall Law School Fund this year. The success and strength of the Fund are essential to the School because it helps to ‘fill the gap’ between needs and resources. Osgoode can provide better financial assistance to students, hire more high quality faculty, provide new academic opportunities and obtain needed resources because of the commitment of the donors who are listed in this publication, as well as those that have gone before. But the existence and success of the Fund do even more than provide immediate financial resources. The support that you have provided to the Fund, and through it to Osgoode and its students, sends a clear message to alumni, students, faculty and the larger community that there is strong support for our School and its mission. Osgoode always has been and will continue to be an important and influential institution in this country. The donors in this Report have helped to ensure its continued participation in this very important role in developing leaders in every part of our society.

I am proud of the success of the Osgoode Hall Law School Fund, and I am very grateful to our alumni and friends who have helped expand the scope and depth of our resources through their important contributions. Thank you for your generosity.

Sincerely,
J. David Jackson ’72
Chair, Osgoode Hall Law School Fund

Osgoode Hall Law School is one of this country’s finest law schools as a result of the vision, wisdom and resolve of those charged with its leadership. Our gift societies are named in honour of five of the first deans for their contribution to building an institution that is internationally recognized for its excellence in legal education.

The societies recognize the contributions of annual fund donors who are committed to upholding our tradition of academic excellence by supporting the Law School’s mission. Membership in a society is based on paid gifts to Osgoode Hall Law School during the University’s fiscal year.

Thomas Brown Phillips Stewart (1865-1892) was a barrister and poet who died at the early age of 27. He left a portion of his estate to establish a student library at Osgoode Hall, which later became the largest law library in Canada.

The Thomas Brown Phillips Stewart Society was created to commemorate Thomas Brown Phillips Stewart as Osgoode’s first benefactor and to honour all those who, like this generous young man, made Osgoode Hall Law School a part of their legacy through a planned gift.

Membership in the Society is offered to those alumni and friends who wish to donate to Osgoode by means of a planned gift including charitable bequests, life insurance or other future arrangements. All members will be recognized annually in the Osgoode Hall Law School Report on Giving.

We would be pleased to discuss with donors and their advisors, the many areas within the Law School where bequests can be directed. We do appreciate the opportunity to review the terms of the Will (especially for specific bequests) before they are finalized, so we can confirm our ability to accept and fulfill the gift’s intent.
