Part 8: Special Topics in Organized Crime

Follow this and additional works at: http://digitalcommons.osgoode.yorku.ca/bibliography

Recommended Citation
http://digitalcommons.osgoode.yorku.ca/bibliography/1
Part Eight: Special Topics in Organized Crime

This final part includes literature on special topics in the study of organized crime. In particular, three topics are included in this section: The convergence of organized crime and terrorism; transnational organized crime, women in organized crime, and research organized crime.

The convergence of organized crime and terrorism
Transnational Organized Crime
Women and Organized Crime (excluding prostitution)
Researching Organized Crime

- General Methodological Literature on Organized Crime Research
- Evaluating Organized Crime Enforcement
- Measuring the Impact of (Organized) Crime on Society

The Convergence of Organized Crime and Terrorism

Transnational Organized Crime

Women and Organized Crime (excluding prostitution and human trafficking)

Researching Organized Crime

General Methodological Literature on Organized Crime Research and Analysis

***

Evaluating Organized Crime Enforcement

Measuring the Scope and Impact of (Organized) Crime on Society

Adlaf, Edward; Patricia Begin & Edward Sawka. 2005. Canadian Addiction Survey. Toronto: Canadian Centre for Substance Abuse

